Powers Goes On Trial

U.S. Foreign Policy Made Co-Defendant

MOSCOW (AP)—Francis Gary Powers goes on trial as an aerial spy Wednesday and the Soviet prosecution has announced it intends to convict the whole foreign policy of the United States.

Powers goes before a military tribunal—on his 31st birthday—just 117 days after his high-flying U2 reconnaissance jet came down about 1,200 miles over Soviet territory.

Also present in the glittering, Soviet House of Columns will be Powers' anxious wife, Barbara; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver W. Powers of Pound, Va., and several American attorneys who will be permitted by the Soviet court to be no more than spectators.

Barbara Powers' appearance in court may give her husband the first knowledge that she is in Moscow. She sent him a telegram Monday advising him that she had come here, but as of Tuesday night had not received any acknowledgment.

Dr. James Baugh, who accompanied her to Moscow, said she and Powers' parents were a bit more relaxed on the eve of the trial than they had been previously.

Faces Prison Or Death

"I think they are feeling a bit more optimistic, having seen the defense counsel," one of the Virginia attorneys here with the Powers' family said.

An indictment drawn up by the Soviet Committee of State Security and the chief prosecutor's office charges Powers with spying by attempting to collect state secrets for a foreign government. The charge carries a penalty of 7-to-15-years imprisonment or death by firing squad.

The indictment quotes Powers as admitting he piloted the plane, that he flew over Soviet territory and that he manipulated instruments which he supposed were intended to collect information for the United States. The indictment says Powers confessed to "the substance of the charges" against him.

The Kremlin is holding the trial in a brilliant spotlight of world publicity, focusing the attention of the world public on the case of the man whose unsuccessful mission was a prelude to the explosion of a summit conference in Paris last May, before the meeting even could get started.

No Contact With Americans

Powers' U2 came down on Soviet soil May 1, but it was not until May 5 that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev made a public announcement. With the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) as his forum, he told the world an American intelligence plane had winged 68,000 feet over the southern Soviet Union and the highly industrialized Urals area, and was brought down by a Soviet rocket. He neglected to say then that Powers had been captured. A series of conflicting reports about the plane and its mission emanated from Washington and then Khrushchev announced the pilot was a prisoner.

Powers was confined without contact with any American during the entire period of what the Soviets called the pre-trial investigation. When that was completed, the military section of the Supreme Court, in charge of the case, appointed a Soviet lawyer to defend him.

At Powers' side will be the mild-mannered, sixtish Soviet public defender, Mikhail Ilich Griniov. Across the aisle from them will be the state's chief accuser, Roman Andreyevich Rudenko, 53, a general public prosecutor whose performances as chief Soviet prosecutor at the Nuremberg Nazi war crimes trials after the war made world headlines. Griniov was associated with Rudenko at those trials.

Presiding will be Gen. Viktor (Cont. on page 2 column 5)

Safe On The Ground

Capt. Joseph Kittinger, 31, of Orlando, Fla., lies happily on the ground in New Mexico yesterday after jumping from a balloon nearly 103,000 feet above the desert. Officials said Kittinger's historic leap set at least four records in America's space probe program.

Police Irk Roa; Threatens OAS Parley Walkout

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa threatened Tuesday to withdraw from the Western Hemisphere foreign ministers conference unless Costa Rican security police lay off the Cuban delegation. The police disarmed gun-toting members of the delegation Monday and broke up a serenade outside the Cuban quarters.

Roa charged the security force with molesting the Cubans, who are the main center of attention and concern because of the leftward march of the Fidel Castro regime in the face of hemispheric anti-Communist pronouncements.

The first business of the Organization of American States diplomats was a closed meeting on procedure.

Roa made his threat on a broadcast after police chased a crowd of 150 that tried to serenade the Cubans in a luxurious home rented for the delegation. The Cubans moved out of a leading hotel into the home Monday night.

Alfredo Vargas, foreign minister of Costa Rica, said he regretted the routing of the serenaders. But he explained that his nation's chief concern is to maintain a climate of order and security during the 21-nation conference, called to discuss tensions in the Caribbean area.

U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter landed at El Coco Airport. An expected anti-American demonstration did not develop as a crowd of about 150 greeted Herter, compared with the 500 who cheered Roa's arrival Sunday.

Sect Members Quit Bomb Shelters After 43 Days

BENSON, Ariz. (UPI)—Members of the Full Gospel Assembly ended a 43-day self-imposed entombment early Tuesday and immediately offered prayers of thanks that a prophesied nuclear holocaust had not occurred.

The men, women and children of the religious sect, numbering an estimated 135, went into underground bomb shelters late July 4, fearing an atomic war. They sealed off their church and homes against fallout radiation, and took with them enough food and supplies to last at least 40 days.

Spokesmen for the sect said they received "a message from the Lord" during the night to go back to their homes, many located immediately over head. Tuesday morning the entire congregation was back in the church located in the same general area as the members' houses on the outskirts of this southern Arizona farming community. Reporters were invited to the lengthy prayer-meeting.

Shortly after the group went into the shelters last month, the leaders emerged for a press conference to dispel fears that they were in danger because of poor ventilation and lack of sanitation facilities.

Charles Williams, 36, and Glenn Scott, 37, primary spokesmen for the sect, assured Benson City officials the shelters had been built to civil defense specifications, and there would be no health problems. Benson police and city attorney Fred Talmadge had broken into one of the shelters because two Benson husbands had expressed concern about their wives and children who were members of the church.

Air Force Captain Soars, Parachutes To Four Records

HOLLOMAN AIR FORCE Base, N.M. (AP)—A slender, sandy-haired Air Force captain asked the Lord to "take care of me," then made history's longest jump Tuesday, nearly 103,000 feet.

Joseph Kittinger, 31, Orlando, Fla., jumped from a balloon over the New Mexico desert "and when the parachute opened, I thanked Him (the Lord) for doing so," he told newsmen later.

His historic leap set at least four records in America's space probe program.

Afterward, he flew to Los Angeles from Holloman Air Force Base for a news conference. He was greeted at International Airport by test pilot Joe Walker who flew the rocket ship X15 2,196 miles per hour last week, and was at the airport Tuesday practicing in a simulated X15 cockpit.

They talked shop. At a news conference, Kittinger said of his parachute plunge: "I was falling on my back. It was very quiet, very still. I had very little velocity. It seemed the balloon was drifting up, away from me into a very dark blue sky. But of course it was I who was falling away from the balloon."

During the six minutes he was in the balloon gondola at maximum altitude he noticed the sky was very dark—"dark enough to see stars, I thought. But for some reason I saw none."

As he leaped from the gondola, he was facing El Paso, Tex. He made a 180-degree turn to the right to see if he could control himself in the air and found that he was looking down at New Mexico. After a few seconds, he turned back toward El Paso. "I have nothing against Texas," he said. The exact altitude Kittinger attained was not immediately determined. It was at least 102,800 feet, which bettered by 300 feet the previous mark set by Lt. Col. David G. Simons in the Man High II test over Minnesota a few years ago. Simons' flight was in a closed gondola, in which he returned to earth.

Air Force spokesmen said altimeters carried by Kittinger measured an altitude as high as 103,300 feet. The lower altitude was measured by ground radar equipment, which was hampered by a high overcast.

Men have gone higher than Kittinger, but in aircraft. Only last week the X15 powered its way to more than 136,000 feet above the earth.

Kittinger also bettered his own record set late last year of an open gondola balloon flight. In the second of a series of high altitude parachute jumps, the airman had gone to 76,400 feet.

It was at that time he established a parachute jump record from more than 25,000 feet higher than the 51,000-foot mark by Swiss balloonist Auguste Piccard in 1931. Two British airmen previously held the unofficial record of a 56,000-foot jump from a disabled bomber in 1958.

Kittinger came through Tuesday's flight practically unscathed. The only injury was a swelled right hand, suffered when a pressure glove malfunctioned at 50,000 feet. He was unable to manipulate some of his equipment because of the hand, but it returned to normal size after his descent.

Senate Vote On Minimum Pay Set Today

Agreement Reached After Farm Worker Riders Struck Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Tuesday beat down attempts to curb Labor Department powers to regulate working conditions of migratory farm workers—clearing the decks for a crucial minimum wage bill vote Wednesday.

Democrats and Republicans, still accusing each other of stalling tactics, finally agreed to begin voting on the minimum wage issue both parties have set up as a major goal of the reconvened session of Congress.

The political bickering pitched around the minimum wage proposals had taken up six days of Senate proceedings.

Late Tuesday the Senate defeated two attempts to deny the secretary of labor power to regulate wages, hours and working conditions of migratory farm workers.

Mitchell Is Target

The proposals were aimed at Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell who last December made effective new rules governing prevailing wage rates, housing and transportation afforded migratory workers furnished farm operators through Labor Department agencies.

After these test votes, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson obtained agreement for a mid-afternoon vote Wednesday on the first minimum wage major issue.

This is an amendment by Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla.) to eliminate the bulk of the new coverage of the Fair Labor Standards Act contemplated by the pending Senate bill.

Rival Proposals

This bill, by Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, would boost the present $1 an hour minimum to $1.25 in three stages and include under the law about five million workers now exempted.

President Eisenhower has proposed a $1.15 hourly minimum with about three million increased coverage.

The farm workers amendments defeated Tuesday would have been riders to the minimum wage bill but they had nothing to do with the basic wage-hour law itself. Kennedy opposed the farm worker riders as did Sen. Johnson, the Democrats' vice presidential nominee.

Castro Leads Arsenal Raid

HAVANA (UPI)—Premier Fidel Castro Tuesday led an early-morning army raiding party against the Arsenal de Casablanca of the Cuban navy and arrested all personnel there on charges of counter-revolutionary activity.

Unconfirmed reports said that Cuban naval commander Maj. Juan Castineira was under arrest.

The arsenal, across the bay from Havana, is one of the major Cuban naval bases.

According to authoritative sources, Castro learned of the conspiracy Monday night and led a patrol of elite troops from his special guard against the arsenal in an armed raid.

Some top officers were among the arrested personnel.

Unconfirmed reports said Castro's force made an overland march, surrounded the base, and moved in as a navy frigate, a vessel larger than a destroyer, was warming up its engines to leave on an unauthorized mission.

The purpose of the mission was not known—whether it was to be a raid or a mass flight from Cuba.

U.S. Challenges Russia To Curb A-Arms Output

Soviets Spurn Two Dramatic Alternatives

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States proposed Tuesday that U.S. and Soviet plants producing nuclear weapon materials be closed one by one as a step toward disarmament.

The Soviet Union—showing up at the last minute at the opening of the 82-nation Disarmament Commission, rejected it as a rehash of old U.S. proposals.

Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. delegation chief, offered two dramatic alternatives for insuring that nuclear weapon material be restricted to peaceful uses. He said they were made in an effort to spur new East-West disarmament negotiations.

Reds Drop Boycott Threat

He pleaded with the Soviet bloc that walked out of 10-nation disarmament talks in Geneva last June 27 to resume negotiations and said the West is willing to hear any new Soviet proposals. The Soviet bloc dropped a boycott threat to attend Tuesday's session.

Lodge, the Republican candidate for vice president, was making his last major speech as chief delegate to the United Nations.

He proposed: 1. That the Soviet Union and the United States each turn over 66,000 pounds of weapons grade uranium 235 from existing accumulated weapons stocks to peaceful uses.

Alternative Proposal

2. If the Soviet Union can't accept that, the United States is ready without delay to shut one by one, under international inspection, major plants producing enriched uranium and plutonium provided the Soviet Union close equivalent facilities.

Vasily V. Kuznetsov, Soviet deputy foreign minister, said in reply the proposals were not new, nor worthy of serious consideration.

He said that in the absence of a ban on nuclear weapons and a ban on production of fissionable material, the Soviet Union could not accept them. He declared they did nothing about existing stockpiles that contain enough material to destroy the world.

Kuznetsov renewed Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's call for disarmament discussions by heads of government at the U.N. General Assembly opening here Sept. 20.

Production Index Steady In July

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation's industrial production held steady in July, the Federal Reserve Board reported Tuesday.

The board's July index of the output from the nation's mines, mills and utilities was unchanged from June at 109 per cent of the 1957 average.

This was about the same level at which the index has hovered since early spring.

"Iron and steel production showed somewhat more than the usual sharp curtailment" in July," the board said. Steel mills, operating at half of capacity, were 30 per cent below the 1957 level.

However, most steel consuming industries were holding at or above the 1957 average.

Auto production fell about 12 per cent last month, partly reflecting strikes at plants of a major producer, the board noted.

"Celebrities-For-Nixon" Group Launched By GOP

WASHINGTON (AP)—A talent pool of Broadway, Hollywood and baseball stars is being recruited to help sway uncertain voters to Republican presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon.

With picture-taking fanfare, a "Celebrities-for-Nixon Committee" was launched Tuesday. Its cochairmen, actress Helen Hayes and Hollywood producer Mervyn Leroy, among others, showed up in Nixon's office to offer their aid.

Already, about 30 celebrities, including baseball star Ted Williams, are on the list which Nixon's campaign manager Robert Finch said will be expanded to include "hundreds of headline personalities from the stage, screen, television, radio and allied fields."

Apparently, the committee is intended to counter the Hollywood support already shown for Nixon's Democratic rival, Sen. John F.

Premier Says U. N. Forces Fail In Duties

Demands Swedish Troops Withdraw; Dag Arrives In N.Y.

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The Congo government, angrily challenging the United Nations role in this divided republic and arresting U.N. people, Tuesday proclaimed six months of martial law for the whole chaotic country.

It also demanded immediate withdrawal of Swedish U.N. troops.

Premier Patrice Lumumba charged U.N. forces failed to carry out their duties and made martial law necessary to meet what he called a crisis.

If fully enforced as an instrument of Congo sovereignty, martial law could enormously complicate the U.N. task of bringing order to the Congo or could even force the U.N. out of the Congo.

In effect, martial law might try to place the U.N. forces under Congo government orders and use them, for instance, against secessionist Katanga province.

In his developing feud with U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, Lumumba has asked for withdrawal of all white forces from Katanga province. He has been especially critical of the Swedes, Hammarskjold's own countrymen.

Raids Underline Declaration

In demanding the withdrawal of Swedish troops, he charged "they have done a very bad job" and accused them of opposing his government's authority and defending Belgian army officers.

The proclamation was announced after Congolese police and troops struck at U.N. staff members and Belgians in raids that undermined Lumumba's declaration of nonconfidence in the trend of U.N. efforts to save the Congo.

At a news conference where he announced the martial law decree, Lumumba repeated that Hammarskjold had failed in his task of obtaining evacuation of Belgian soldiers from the Congo and ending the secession of rich Katanga province.

"Our government does not exist for the secretary-general," the Premier asserted.

Soon after Lumumba spoke, Hammarskjold arrived in New York to lay the Congo problems again before the U.N. Security Council.

Military Courts To Be Set Up

A Congolese delegation is expected to appear when the Council meets later this week. Hammarskjold refused to take the Congolese delegation along when he left here by plane Monday night.

(Hammarskjold told airport reporters he had no comment on the declaration of martial law, then sped off to his New York offices.)

Lumumba said the martial law proclamation, signed by him and President Joseph Kasavubu, would take effect immediately.

He said military tribunals would be established to replace Belgian magistrates who fled the country but he did not explain what measures would be taken under martial law (Cont. on page 2 column 5)

Kidnaped Boy Is Found Dead

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Kidnaped Graeme Thorne, 8, son of a lottery winner who had begged for a chance to pay the $56,000 demanded for the boy's safe return, was found dead in a Sydney suburb Tuesday.

The body of the victim, who disappeared on his way from his apartment to school July 7, was found and gagged. He had been dead for some time. The body was wrapped in a blanket.

Three boys found the body in the brush about seven miles north of Sydney. Police said the child probably died within 24 hours of being kidnaped. A preliminary medical examination failed to show the cause of death. Fear is totaling $32,000 have been offered in the case.

It was the final blow to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Basil Thorne, who had been abruptly plunged from the joy of winning $224,000 in a June state lottery to the terror of Australia's first kidnapping of a child for ransom.

Vainly they had made repeated calls to the kidnapers by TV, radio and newspapers for return of their son on the harsh terms dictated in a telephone call by a man with a foreign accent 90 minutes after the boy vanished.

That call was taken by a detective posing as Thorne, 37, a traveling salesman.

Deck Stacked Against Powers

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

Francis Gary Powers goes on trial Wednesday in a circus atmosphere, with the cards well stacked against him.

In Moscow the shy, handsome U2 pilot, will on his 31st birthday hear himself denounced as a spy and a dangerous criminal, a symbol of the cold war and creature of forces seeking a new world war.

Few qualified observers doubt that Powers had been convicted in advance and his punishment already has been decided upon. What is going on now is a propaganda show trial with the twin aims of convincing the Soviet public that it still faces dangerous enemies and convincing the outside world that the United States, by its policies, risks war.

There are many lines of defense which could be followed in Powers' behalf in any except a Soviet court. But there is virtually no possibility that any effective line of defense will be permitted.

The military section — one of far above the air space any four sections of the U.S.S.R. Supreme Court—has appointed a Soviet lawyer, Mikhail I. Griniov, to "defend" Powers, but the first duty of a Soviet lawyer is to state and to the Communist party which rules it.

Several American attorneys are on hand. They have been hoping against hope to persuade Griniov to present obvious arguments for Powers.

The case they suggest is this: Powers piloted a Lockheed U2 reconnaissance jet equipped to gather information at extremely high altitude and undertook the unarmed flight on explicit orders of the U. S. government and president after similar flights had been carried out for four years without public Soviet protests or interference.

What should Powers' rights be? Can he claim immunity or at least mitigation of punishment as an unauthorized agent of the U. S. government and president? Was he actually in Soviet air space or

Littered Flat Of Eccentric Yields $150,000

NEW YORK (AP)—More than $150,000 in cash and securities were literally unearthed Tuesday in the Yorkville district apartment of an eccentric, who piled about him the accumulated trash and tokens of year upon year of solitude. Amid the debris were faded reminders of life in New York half a century ago.

The man, George Aichele, 73, was found dead Monday of natural causes. It took police all night to ferret out and count $47,000 in cash in the five-room flat, including $500 and $1,000 bills casually tucked amid rubbish.

More than 80 bankbooks also were turned up, noting deposits of more than $112,000. Some of the deposits, of only $10, were made, a friend said, because Aichele coveted the minor gifts with which banks encourage new depositors. "In the living room the junk was piled five feet high," said patrolman James Pyne, first to enter the apartment after Aichele's lawyer had missed the old bachelor for many days.

There were radios, including new ones still in their cartons. There were razors and blades, newspapers and magazines dated at the turn of the century, unopened cases of liquor, phonograph records, thousands of packs of safety matches, dozens of wedding bands and diamond rings, a carton of more than 100 harmonicas, a birdcage. There was even a zither.

Aichele was a recluse as far as his home was concerned. No one but himself was known to have set foot inside it since a brother with whom he lived died 13 years ago.

However, outside the flat, while quiet and withdrawn, he was not unfriendly. Neighbors saw him regularly, and regarded him as pleasant and likable.

The brother with whom he lived, John, presumably took part in the hoarding, since much of the trash antedated his death in 1947.

Another brother, Henry, a bank executive, died in 1956, also amid rubbish accumulated in his home. Aichele was one of four brothers. Besides Henry, another one, Edward, left home and now lives in St. Petersburg, Fla.

The brothers inherited money from their father, Charles, who made a fortune in Manhattan real estate.

Negro Boys Fined For Entering Zoo On "Wrong" Day

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Three youths arrested for entering the city zoo on a day when Negroes were barred were fined $26 each in City Court Tuesday.

O. L. Hayes, 18; M. W. Morris, 18; and D. L. Moore, 18, were convicted of disorderly conduct. Their lawyers said they will appeal.

The zoo is opened to Negroes on Thursdays only.

law, to which he referred as a military regime.

Most Western newsmen had walked away from the news conference after police pointed bayonets at them in front of Lumumba's residence.

Several hours earlier, a menacing crowd of Congolese watched as a Negro patrol halted a car with white U.N. military personnel near the central post office and checked their documents. The onlookers shook their fists and screamed insults at the car's occupants. Whites were booed in similar scenes throughout the city.

Lumumba's police searches even extended to the main residence housing most of the U.N. staff and offices.

Eleven members of the U.N. staff were arrested briefly and scores were searched as the Congolese defiantly went ahead with plans to take over control of security now vested in the U.N. Command.

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — The Baltimore County Board of Education Tuesday submitted a record budget request for next year totaling $49,938,991, an increase of $8,458,480 over the current appropriations. All but about eight million dollars would be financed through county taxes.

Baltimore Man Shot To Death; Wife Charged

BALTIMORE (AP)—Harvey B. Slenbaker, 46, was shot to death Tuesday in the kitchen of his Baltimore home.

Tuesday night, police charged his 42-year-old wife, Ruth E. Slenbaker, with the slaying and said she would be arraigned Wednesday.

Slenbaker worked in the shipping department of a can company in suburban Halethorpe.

He was felled by a single shot in the chest. Police said a 22-caliber pistol was found on the kitchen table and a spent bullet was on the floor near the victim's body.

Officers said Slenbaker's wife told them she and her husband had been arguing all day about a television set she had bought Monday, and he had beaten her. She also said her husband threw the gun at her and demanded: "Why don't you hit back?"

Police quoted her as saying she picked up the pistol and it discharged.

Slenbaker died at Franklin Square Hospital about 30 minutes after the shooting.

Police said the couple lived alone in the house. Mrs. Slenbaker had two grown daughters by a former marriage.

Source Of Drugs Given 'Sleeping Beauties' Sought

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Detectives Tuesday sought the source of drugs which Mrs. Vincent N. Fratanonio is charged with giving her two "sleeping beauty" daughters.

At Mt. Sinai Hospital Bernadette, 3, and Venita Fratanonio, 5, were described as anything but sleepy.

Their physician, Dr. Earl E. Smith, said "so far they appear perfectly normal," and "there probably will be no complications."

Mrs. Fratanonio, 29, was charged in Juvenile Court Monday with neglecting the children a day with neglecting the children by giving them barbiturates without the authority of a doctor. She was released on bond. Police say she admitted giving drugs which caused the girls to go into irregular periods of coma.

Inspector Richard R. Wagner said detectives have been questioning a number of people in an effort to find the source of the drugs.

Asked whether one of those questioned would be in the category of a boy friend, as reported, he said, "we have some corroborative statements that indicate a man is in that category." He declined to identify the man.

Airborne Computer Sets Speed Record

BALTIMORE (AP) — An airborne digital data processor, which Westinghouse Electric Corp. says can perform 166,000 mathematical operations per second, has been developed at the company's air arm division here.

Dr. Patrick Conley, division manager, said Friday the new unit is the "fastest military computer available" and can be applied to fire control, space guidance, navigation, and electronic counter measures control.

Applied to multi-target-tracking systems, Dr. Conley said, the computer would take information provided by radar or some other sensing device, correlate the information and interpret it for use by a weapon system.

Kennedy Plagued By Sinus Ailment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic presidential nominee John F. Kennedy revealed Tuesday that he has been plagued by a sinus ailment since his post-convention Cape Cod vacation at Hyannis Port, Mass.

Kennedy told United Press International in an interview at his Georgetown home that his sinus condition was the reason why he consulted a physician in New York last Sunday. He spoke in a husky voice but insisted his "voice is all right—it's the sinus."

Expanded State Park Program May Be Pushed

BALTIMORE (AP) — Public pressure is mounting for an expanded Maryland state park program, Del. William M. Houck (D-Frederick, chairman of a legislative committee on forests and parks, said Tuesday.

Houck told the forests and parks commission he felt there was particular need for the recreational development of water resources—for boating, swimming and fishing.

Several obstacles to expansion were cited at the meeting by R. Brook Maxwell, chairman of the forest and parks commission.

Maxwell said many of the streams in Maryland are polluted and unsuitable for recreation. And, he said, the Legislature doesn't provide sufficient funds to finance items like swimming pools and chlorinators.

Houck said his committee has been studying park programs in other states with a view to improving facilities.

Sen. Charles M. See (R-Allegany), a member of the Houck committee, said he felt entrance fees to Maryland parks are too high and that facilities are not as good as those in neighboring states.

However, Maxwell said more funds for state parks should be contributed by users. Most residents understand they must pay for such benefits, he contended.

Joseph F. Kaylor, director of the Forests and Parks Department, told the group that a master plan for future park development was being drafted. The plan will be reported in several months, he said.

Maryland Briefs

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — The Ward Electric Co., Mount Vernon, N.Y., has announced plans to construct a plant for its Metal Film Division near Hagerstown. The plant, which will employ about 100 persons when full production is underway next year, will make parts for missiles, radar and computers.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Funeral services were held Tuesday for Mrs. John C. Bowerman, 95, whose late husband served as secretary to former Gov. Frank Brown more than 60 years ago. She died Sunday after a long illness.

BALTIMORE (AP) — John B. Funk, head of the Maryland State Roads Commission, Tuesday proposed a study of highway location and traffic movement in Eastern Baltimore County to help determine route selections on projects scheduled in the area. He said tentative plans call for seeking federal aid to finance the study.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Funeral services were held Tuesday for Frank J. Little, 64, general staff supervisor for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co., who died Saturday at his home at Fair Haven, Anne Arundel County. Little, a native of Martinsburg, W. Va., had been with the company 33 years.

Kennedy Camp Keeping Tab On State Drive

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy's campaign organization has requested weekly reports from Maryland in a drive to register as many potential voters as possible before the Sept. 26 deadline.

Thomas B. Finan, chairman of the state Democratic Party, said the state organization will "cooperate in every way we can."

Finan received a telegram Tuesday from Frank Thompson Jr., chairman of the National Voters Registration Committee, asking the present registration figures for the next week.

"A factual report will be of real interest and stimulation to our co-workers throughout the country," Thompson said.

The Kennedy organization has set up a pilot project in 50 precincts in Baltimore City and 10 in Baltimore County to show how the registration drive can be carried out among potential voters.

Classes have been held for volunteers and services of college students are being utilized in getting unregistered voters to sign up.

Finan said the state organization would try to canvass counties by telephone and letter to get weekly progress reports.

Perlman Estate Set At $500,000

BALTIMORE (AP) — An estate estimated at about $500,000 was left by the late Philip B. Perlman, onetime United States solicitor general and a prominent Maryland lawyer.

Perlman, who died at Washington on July 31 at the age of 70, left specific bequests to two art museums, a number of charities and to the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra.

Legacies also went to a number of friends and relatives, with three-fifths of the remaining portion of the estate going to a niece, Evelyn Koch Jones, and two-fifths to a nephew, Manuel Bupkin 2nd.

The legacies specified in the will, executed in 1958 and filed for probate in Orphans Court, amounted to $102,750.

Perlman left $10,000 to the Walters Art Gallery in Baltimore and $5,000 to the Baltimore Museum of Art, and in addition gave trustees of the museums the right to select art and other collectors' items from his personal belongings. The symphony orchestra was left $1,000.

Alterations In Maryland's Auto Insurance Merit Plan Proposed

BALTIMORE (AP) — A driver's personal record and not the record of the car he drives should be the basis for determining insurance rates under Maryland's new merit plan, Del. Edgar P. Silver (D-Balto 5th) said Tuesday.

Silver also said the controversial plan which went into effect June 1, should be altered to reduce the surcharge for a first accident, and to shorten the retroactive period in figuring rates.

Silver, chairman of the Legislative Council's Motor Vehicle Committee, made his recommendations in a report to F. Douglass Sears, state insurance commissioner.

Under the present plan, approved for sale in Maryland by 240 companies affiliated with two national insurance rating bureaus, premiums are determined on the basis of claims against an insured vehicle. The record of the individual operator is not considered.

"This prohibits any accurate differentiation between the driver who is a genuine menace to society, but who has been involved in only one chargeable claim, and a driver with an otherwise unblemished record who also is involved in a claim," Silver said.

Silver's report recommended that the insurance manual rates be applied for first accident claims instead of the 20 per cent surcharge which he said was "too severe."

Heavy Rains Both Help, Hurt Farmers

BALTIMORE (AP) — Harvesting of Haverhill and Sun High peaches is about 75 per cent complete in the Hancock area, a federal crop reporting service said Tuesday.

The report said picking of Sullivan Elberta, J.H. Hale and Shippers Late Red types is expected this week.

In general, heavy rains last week helped the growth of crops and pastures, the service said, but some flooding was reported and haymaking was slowed. Wet weather diseases were damaging tomatoes and cantaloupes, and the tomato crop badly needed a spell of dry weather.

Harvest of Eastern Shore lima beans was in full progress, the report said, and 85 to 90 per cent of the process snap bean in the two-state area have been planted. Corn growth was well along.

Bid Accepted To Renovate Court House

The final touch of a program to make the Court House on Washington Street an attractive and imposing structure was taken yesterday by the Allegheny County Board of Commissioners.

The bid of the Joseph J. Graziano Company of Pittsburgh to repoint, clean and renovate the exterior of the Court House was accepted. The Pittsburgh firm offered to do the work for $14,200.

One other bid, by the Tri-State Water Proofing Company, also of Pittsburgh, was rejected. It offered to do the work for $14,000.

Commissioner John J. Rowan said he had received a report from a consulting engineer on the project and was informed that the Graziano firm was the better qualified of the two groups.

Rowan said that the work of Graziano on quite a few buildings in Cumberland was well known and the commissioners would be avoiding any possible dissatisfaction if they chose the firm for the work.

Commissioner William A. Wilson said he also knew of the work of the Graziano firm and made a motion the bid be accepted. Commissioner John Tucker Mason voiced the same opinion and the bid was accepted unanimously.

Among structures in Cumberland and Allegheny County which the Graziano firm has renovated are the Board of Education Building, Liberty Trust Company, Second National Bank, Centre Street Methodist Church, Central Methodist Church, First Presbyterian Church in Frostburg, City Hall, Public Safety Building, as well as six school buildings of the county system.

Poorbaugh Road Work Is Sought

Dimes Unit Opens New Area Office

New officers of Allegheny Chapter of the National Foundation (March of Dimes) have been elected and an office established. It was announced yesterday.

The move was made at the suggestion of John Wydro of Pittsburgh, district representative of the National Foundation, who said the identity of the Foundation would be better established under a new and separate group not affiliated with another local organization.

When President Franklin D. Roosevelt established what was then known as the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, the Board of Directors of the Allegheny County League for Crippled Children was asked to serve as board members for the Foundation. League Board members continued to service in that capacity until the Foundation chapter here elected officers. For the past eight years, Attorney John M. Robb has been chairman of the March of Dimes here.

Wydro said that polio patients recommended for medical treatment and therapy by their doctors will be sent to the League for Crippled Children for these services.

Allegheny County Chapter of the National Foundation will be in charge of all polio emergencies and refer the cases when recommended.

Mrs. Ethel M. Thayer of LaVale, has been named executive secretary and an office has been established at her home where she is on fulltime duty. The telephone number is PA 4-6979.

Chairman of Allegheny County Chapter is Miller Bowen. Other officers are Mrs. Elizabeth Nave, vice chairman; Mrs. Russell Haines, secretary; Bert Lawler, treasurer; Hugh McMullen, Mrs. Joyce Vowell, William Walsh and Glenn R. Brant, Executive Committee members.

Bookmobile Ordered By Library Unit

The Allegheny County Library board of trustees Monday night selected a bookmobile for use in the newly-instituted library program in the county.

The bookmobile unit will be custom built by the Gerstenslager Company of Wooster, Ohio. The cost will be $25,375.

It will be similar to the bookmobile which is used in Garrett County. The chassis for the bookmobile will be sent to Wooster by the Graton Ford Company of this city. The chassis cost $3,070.10.

Commissioner John Tucker Mason, told the members of the Allegheny County Board of Commissioners yesterday that the bookmobile will be ready in about two or three months.

The books for use in the bookmobile will be stocked from the public library on Washington Street. A schedule for the bookmobile will be arranged and service provided to rural areas and small communities throughout the county, Mason said.

Trial September 8 In Land Case

The trial of Garland Groh, an attorney and prominent Washington County landowner, on charges growing out of an alleged listing of an incorrect consideration on a deed filed for record in Hagerstown will be held in Circuit Court here September 8.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris and Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley of Oakland will preside in the case.

The two judges dismissed a motion to quash the indictment against Groh following arguments in court here last April. The decision to dismiss the motion was made in June by the two jurists following consultation.

City Decides Not To Buy Old Armory

The City of Cumberland has told the Military Department of Maryland it does not have sufficient funds to purchase the old National Guard Armory on South Centre Street.

The old Armory site has been vacant for some time as the result of construction of a new, modern Armory in Ridgedale Addition.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech said yesterday that the city had had a verbal option on the old building and could have purchased it for $50,000. However, in a letter to Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, adjutant general of the Military Department of Maryland, he said the city decided it does not have funds available.

The city's decision not to buy puts the building "up for grabs" but it will be the job of the state military department to sell it. At least two other local groups have expressed interest in the building but no definite action taken.

Plant Employee Sues Union

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — An employee of Diecraft Inc. of Sparks, Md., Tuesday filed suit in Baltimore County Circuit Court asking damages of $250,000 against the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL-CIO) and two of its agents.

William B. Ambrose Jr., through his attorneys, named the union and Clarence E. Wallace and Frank H. Chairs, as defendants in the action.

Ambrose, in his suit, contends that Wallace and Chairs, as union agents, attempted to persuade persons at the plant to join the union last Feb. 27.

Ambrose stated he was opposed to joining the union and he alleged that because of his resistance he was "first assaulted by threat of the defendants, their agents, servants or employees."

The suit also alleged that Ambrose was "subjected to a willful, wanton and malicious assault by the defendants . . . who did violently strike and kick" him. And the suit contends that Ambrose suffered permanent head injuries as a result of the attack.

A jury trial was requested. The union was asked to give a full accounting of its property and assets.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Lost Out On A Better Job? Be Sure You Know The Reason

Why wasn't that better job in the office given to you? What is there about the girl who got it that you can't match hands down? Nothing? It was office politics? Smooth your ruffles now, and see if you're sure.

In the work you turn out, perhaps you've equalled your successful rival, but the company executive must see something extra in her, something that promises greater value in a bigger job. Ask yourself how you failed to make the same impression. Was it because you can't answer yes to enough of the following questions?

Do you take instruction readily, concentrate on learning quickly and on remembering what you learn? Executives appreciate being spared repetition, and need to save time.

Do you often do more than your share? The taking on of extra small responsibilities recommends you for larger ones.

Are you a stickler for accuracy? The higher up the job, remember, the costlier the mistake. Of course a company must minimize risk.

Are you even tempered, steady under pressure? Your shoulders don't look very broad when you fly off the handle, when you're shattered by a crisis, or if you complain constantly, or nurse grudges.

Are you understanding of a heavy load someone else is carrying? It's fatal to behave as if nobody else's job is as much trouble as yours.

Do you welcome new ideas? Your company would stand still if it didn't, and watches those who know how to use them.

Are you discreet, never prying? The person who can't mind his own business loses the confidence of everyone. Certainly of his superiors, who must guard company matters from the irresponsible.

Have you made yours a good memory for faces, are you tactful, soft-spoken, gentle - mannered, attractively groomed and groomed? A high score on all these points confirms your worthiness for a higher place, and makes you at home there.

If your score is not all it should be, learn how to land that better job — and keep it — by reading "Your Steps to a Successful Career," my handy, hint-filled booklet that will show you how to win your way to the top. A copy's yours for 10c and a stamped, return envelope sent to me, JRP, c/o this paper.

Allow two weeks for delivery, and then get set to become a careerist supreme!

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: If I didn't have a small child who needs me I would take my life. Please tell me how to face the future.

I've been married eight years to a man I worshipped. I thought he was a saint. Bud and I were very close until our daughter was born, then he seemed to drift away slowly.

One night I insisted he tell me what was wrong. He confessed he had been involved with another woman for over a year. He swore the affair had been over for months and he was relieved.

My whole world fell apart. I left him the next day. He came after me, begged me to forgive him and we went to church together and promised to build a new life together.

It's been three months and I can't forgive him for cheating, lying and ruining my life. I won't let him come near me. I keep thinking the other woman should be made to suffer as I have suffered.

I've even thought of going to her husband and telling him but I'm afraid of what he might do to Bud. I'm the most miserable woman in the world. Please tell me what to do.

— COMPLETELY LOST
DEAR LOST: Find yourself before you lose your husband forever. How much longer do you think he's going to stay on his knees and grovel at your feet begging for forgiveness?

So — Bud was unfaithful. It was a terrible thing he did, but it's finished and done with and there isn't one solitary thing you can do now but forget it.

My advice is to grow up and start to live in the present before you shove that ex-saint right into another pair of ever-lovin' arms — for keeps.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The situation is as follows: Teen-age daughter, 17. Father recently ill — now recuperating. Friends who own a resort have invited my husband and me to spend several days with them. The crux of the problem: Daughter's boy friend is home on furlough — 15 days.

Should we go on the vacation and leave the 17-year-old daughter under the conditions described? She has a brother 16 who is well behaved. He would be at home with her.

My husband is more prone than I to listen to neighbors and relatives. They say NO. I'm easy-going and feel teen-agers should be trusted. My daughter is begging us to go but I'm leaving it up to you. What is your advice?

— TRUSTING MOM
DEAR TRUSTING MOM: By all means go — BUT don't leave a 16-year-old boy to chaperone his 17-year-old sister.

Get an aunt, uncle, grandparent or an adult sitter, to stay in the house.

Such an arrangement does not mean you don't trust your children. It merely means you are not presenting these teenagers with what might prove to be an irresistible temptation.

Your decision should be unrelated to neighborhood gossip or relatives. It should be decided solely on the basis of what is best for your children.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Should a sixth grader be spanked? Please hurry your answer. I need to know right away. Thank you. — JACKIE

Keith Dunlap Receives Oath In W. Va. Post

Higher Institutional Salaries Advocated

By CARLO J. SALZANO
United Press International
CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Keith Dunlap, Lewisburg, was sworn in Tuesday as West Virginia's new public institutions commissioner and said he will ask the 1961 Legislature to appropriate money to raise salaries of attendants, doctors and nurses at the state's mental hospitals.

Dunlap, farm supervisor for the department since 1957, said he plans to ask the Legislature to raise attendants' salaries by at least $50 a month.

"It's disgraceful to ask an attendant to care for the sick and change beds 10 or 12 times a day at a salary of $130 a month," Dunlap said. "And we're lucky to get any registered nurses and doctors at the rates they're paid."

Dunlap is the fourth department commissioner since the inauguration of Gov. Cecil H. Underwood in 1957. The others were Hubert H. Kelly, who resigned recently; Harold E. Neely, who resigned to run for governor, and Theodore T. Dorman, who was rejected by the State Senate in 1958.

Dunlap noted that salaries of nurses employed at the institutions are far lower than those of nurses working for private hospitals.

"We have about 450 patients at Pinecrest Sanitarium being cared for by only 16 registered nurses getting about $250 a month," Dunlap said. "Right in Beckley there is the United Mine Workers Memorial Hospital where there are fewer patients cared for by 73 registered nurses earning as much as $425 a month."

West Virginia Crime Group To Start Probe

State Police Supt. Will Appear

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—An inquiry into liquor and gambling violations in the state will be started Wednesday by the West Virginia Crime Commission.

Among those directed to appear is State Police Supt. Hazen H. Fair.

In a brief announcement Monday, commission chief counsel F. Dean Nichols of Charles Town said the commission would meet Wednesday and Thursday to begin an investigation into "activities in Greenbrier County."

Nichols refused to elaborate on the announcement and to say who had been summoned to appear. Fair volunteered that he had been subpoenaed to appear Wednesday but added he was not told what the hearing would concern.

Nichols said the date of the hearing had been determined at the end of a two-day meeting last week. He said announcement was delayed, however, to give the commission a chance to subpoena witnesses.

The commission spent most of its time last week behind closed doors, hearing reports from Nichols and other investigators on liquor and gambling activities in the White Sulphur Springs area and in the Northern Panhandle.

Piedmont Town Levy Approved

PIEDMONT — The town levy extending from 1960 to June 30, 1961 was approved Monday by the Mayor and Council.

A letter from Donald C. Carman, Charleston, state tax commissioner, also voiced approval of the special levy voted by the citizens. Councilman James Bissett presided at the meeting.

The newly organized band sponsored by Kelly-Mansfield Post 52, American Legion, was granted permission to hold a street carnival August 29-September 3 on the lot at the rear of the Legion Home. Russell McRobie made the request and said the lot will be kept in a satisfactory condition.

Tri-Towns Fire Company I was authorized to purchase a 12-volt battery for $59.21 for use on the old Number 1 truck. The request was made by Vernon Hamilton, who also asked the town to buy a fire plug adapter. He explained that some of the three-on plugs in nearby towns are of a different size and that an adapter would save much time.

Hamilton was asked to secure quotations on the cost of an adapter and inform council of the prices.

Bissett said Charles Spiker, chief of police, stated that new spark plugs had been installed in the police cruiser. Council decided to secure prices for putting new rings in the car.

Railroader, Hurt In Accident, On 'Critical' List

A local 61-year-old B&O railroader remains on the "critical" list at Preston Memorial Hospital in Kingwood, W. Va., where he was admitted on Sunday night with injuries sustained in a train accident.

Harley Logue of 415 Central Avenue was thrown head first through a caboose window when a freight train stopped abruptly near Terra Alta.

Another railroader, Eugene Kesner, of Keyser, sustained a broken ankle in the accident and is reported in "satisfactory" condition at the hospital.

Officials in Terra Alta are not certain why the train made the emergency stop.

Police Chief Joseph Sisler, who was called to the scene, said he was informed the west-bound freight suddenly received a red light as it neared Terra Alta. The engineer threw the train into "emergency stop" but the emergency did not react immediately, the officer said.

"When the brakes did react," Chief Sisler said officials told him, "it caught the workmen in the caboose unexpectedly."

It was reported the quick stop caused Logue to be tossed through a window of the caboose and Kesner was thrown against the wall of the car.

A physician on the scene told the chief that Logue had glass lodged in his head and would have to undergo surgery at the hospital.

Beating Reds At • Their Own Game

In June the Senate Judiciary Committee reported out a bill calling for a Freedom Commission to "develop a science of counteraction to the world Communist conspiracy" and a Freedom Academy to train Americans in the art of total political warfare.

The bill never came to a vote in the Senate and the House took no comparable committee action.

The proposal is attracting attention throughout the country because Communist leadership in infiltration and propaganda has seemed to put the Reds in a position of acting while the free world merely reacts. Since the Bolshevik revolution of 1917 Moscow has made political warfare one of its prime activities and has a host of trained people ready to be turned loose in any country.

Should Congress decide to establish an Academy of Freedom, it will train people in the rudiments of propaganda so that they can man cold war ramparts throughout the world. Instead of amateurs who goof off a great deal of the effects of the multiple-billion aid program, Uncle Sam will have dedicated professionals.

Testifying to the need as outlined in this bill, Rep. Walter Judd of Minnesota said: "The amateur will always lose against the professional. I want professionals on our side. We have the better cause, but we are not professional in the presentation and advancement of it."

Mob incitation such as occurred in Venezuela, Cuba, South Korea, Japan and elsewhere evidences Communist skill in making trouble for the free world. Since free men have no choice except to compete at every level to meet the despotic menace, why not prepare to compete on even terms? Why not train to give the Communists the same trouble they are dealing out to us?

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

A Concept Of Wealth

In these days of high taxes and controlled life, not only in this country but universally, wealth takes on altogether a different meaning than it did when men worked for possessions and could keep what they earned.

Andrew Carnegie was at one time the richest man in America. He started life quite poor, with few opportunities but with great ambitions. When he was 33 years old, he was earning $50,000 a year which was a great amount of money in those days. When he realized how very well he was doing, he wrote a memorandum on the subject which is included in an article by Robert L. Heilbroner in "American Heritage." The last paragraph of that document reads as follows:

"Man must have an idol—the amassing of wealth is one of the worst species of idolatry—no idol more debasing than the worship of money. Whatever I engage in I must push it to the limit; therefore I must be careful to choose that life which will be the most elevating in its character. To continue much longer overwhelmed by business cares and with most of my thoughts wholly upon the way to make more money in the shortest time, must degrade me beyond hope of permanent recovery. I will resign business at 35 . . ."

Carnegie did not resign business at 35. He went on working hard, amassing great sums but he gave much of it away. He once wrote: "The man who dies thus rich dies disgraced." It was not so much that Carnegie suffered from the guilt of earning so much money, but rather that he could think of better things to do. He loved to read and would have given all his millions away could he have been a scholar.

The day is not far distant when no private person in the United States will be able to possess or to earn such wealth as Andrew Carnegie amassed. So far as the individual is concerned, that can mean little more than that egoists will have to find other devices for projecting themselves to their admirers.

After all, how many millions does anyone actually need to possess and those who chase after the dollar, burrowing in the mud of mere possessions, never find solace or contentment in the reports from their accountants. It is sad to realize that little more is left than heirs waiting for their inheritances and lawyers waiting to do their best for themselves.

However, our great institutions of learning which now still thrive on private contributions will suffer. The income tax is being collected so brutally, under the law, that private funds will dry up before long, except among those who thrive on speculation and on marginal economic activities. In fact, much American money, held in Switzerland and such places, may be used for charities abroad but none of it can come back to this country, without the tax fraud being disclosed.

Some of the older foundations are running out of funds. Many new ones are tax evasion operations and will sooner or later be investigated and some may be declared unpermissible.

There are those who would say that all education should come out of taxes. This would mean that education would lack individuality and character; it would everywhere follow the fashions of the moment. For instance, if a state administration decided to cut the educational budget, teaching could be by the cheaper medium of television. Crowd a couple of hundred kids in a room; throw the lessons onto a screen; let the janitors or perhaps a policeman maintain order; and the children will cram into their heads whatever the television told them. There is no character, no culture, no learning in that. There is no asking of questions of a great mind. There is no communication of ideas. We could soon become an intellectually and spiritually sterile nation with that kind of schooling. Imagine studying history or philosophy or English usage by television!

The days of such a man as Carnegie are over, but the era of generous giving is not yet done. The inhuman income tax is corrupting the morals of our nation and unquestionably the greatest of all moral expressions is charity. A tax is not a gift; it is an enforced deprivation; a gift is from the very soul of a man.

'Of Course, Your Right Arm As Security'

What Will Be Effect Of Lunch Counter Decision?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — What will happen now that Attorney General Rogers has obtained a voluntary agreement among executives of many chain stores to abandon segregation at the lunch counters in the South? Will the Negroes tend toward a token participation and refrain for the most part? Or will white folks gradually abandon the same lunch rooms as Negroes move in? Will it mean that stores or lunch rooms not connected with chains will compete more effectively now by catering to white customers only?

Persons close to the Administration predict that for all practical purposes there will be little change — that voluntary separation will be practiced as in the case of the restrooms in railroad stations when the signs were ordered taken down or in the buses when negroes took rear seats even after segregation was legally banned.

The new status in the chain stores of the South has been accomplished not by legal coercion but by voluntary action on the part of the managements of private business establishments. The initiative was taken on June 1 by the Department of Justice, which says it invited the business executives "to discuss informally appropriate means whereby southern communities would voluntarily work out desegregation of lunch counters and working facilities." The department's announcement, just issued, declares:

"It was agreed that the most effective method of accomplishing this objective would be to approach the problem community by community with the assistance of interested local groups and merchants."

"Noting that local ordinances requiring racial segregation in certain establishments raised serious constitutional questions, the Attorney General emphasized that progress in this area was necessary in the national interest and because the standing of the United States as a leader of the free world suffers as a result of acts of racial discrimination."

It is not clear just what is meant by "serious constitutional questions," as it has been widely assumed that a private business may select its own customers. It could mean that the attainment of desegregation objectives at lunch counters faced a long, uphill battle in the courts and that for reasons of expediency it was considered wiser to try to achieve integration by voluntary means. Certainly the wide use of the racial-discrimination issue by the Communists has given the government here an incentive to solve the problem or at least to try to diminish its significance. The Attorney General now says: "It is heartening to know that private initiative and cooperation have been instrumental in assuring equal treatment of all citizens in so many communities in such a comparatively brief time."

One wonders if the key to the voluntary settlements that have been made lies in the fact that legal coercion has not been applied and that the force of reason has been substituted. Did lunch-counter demonstrations and "sit in's" really accomplish the settlement in the southern communities where the new arrangement is going into effect, or was it the potential effects of boycotts form promises immediately standing ready to charge them with insincerity if they don't enact the entire package.

On the other hand, they plan to fight each piece of legislation with the charge that such laws themselves demonstrate political immaturity, foolish spending, and governmental irresponsibility.

This is the kind of situation that could sway millions of votes either way. The Presidential election could well hang on the outcome, even more than the campaigning.

ACCENT ON YOUTH — Democratic Presidential nominee John F. Kennedy is 43 years old. Of the men he has drawn around him to help him in his campaign, no less than three of them are also 43 years old, one is 44, one 48 and one 49. Several other key men are still in their 30s.

The same thing holds true of GOP Presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon's staff. If anything, the Nixon staff's average is younger than Kennedy's.

You'll be hearing a lot about "maturity" in the campaign, but they're drawing a fine line between that word and calendar age.

Republicans Get Off Easy On Issue Of Two "Mathematicians" Defecting

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The Democrats are giving the Republicans an amazing break regarding those two "mathematicians" believed to have defected behind the Iron Curtain from the National Security Agency.

So far the Democrats have asked no embarrassing questions about what happened to this alarming breakdown of government security precautions. Both Kennedy and Johnson, know the real truth of what happened, and it was not as inconsequential as the Pentagon spokesmen tried to make it appear.

Real fact is that the two missing young men — Bernon F. Mitchell and William H. Martin — were top experts in cracking codes, and their disappearance has caused more consternation inside the administration than anything since the break-up of the summit conference.

The National Security Agency where they worked is the most sensitive agency of government. It has charge of the secret codes by which the United States transmits its most carefully-guarded messages abroad.

And as a result of the disappearance of the two men, every American code machine around the world has to be re-set, with new codes carried by secret courier to embassies and consulates and military establishments in every country. This takes millions of dollars and weeks of work.

The unexplained question is: Why did the administration permit these two key men to slip off to Mexico? What happened to our much vaunted security system?

When Ike and Nixon first ran for election one of their main attacks on Truman and Acheson was laxness regarding pro-Communists. Yet during all of Truman's nearly eight years in office not one American official defected behind the Iron Curtain.

Note—The FBI has picked up a report along the Cuban waterfront that two men answering the description of the two missing code experts boarded a Russian fishing trawler. They were in the company of three other well-dressed men who seemed to be Russians.

The Pope Approved

Private word from the Vatican is that Pope John will throw the full weight of the Catholic Church behind Cuban Catholics in their battle against Dictator Castro.

The Pope is reported ready to excommunicate Castro and all his top aides in order to stop Communism from taking over Cuba. This is very important, since it was the church which toppled another dictator — Juan Peron—when he was riding high in Argentina.

On the other hand the Cuban revolution has some of the aspects of the Mexican revolution when the Mexican government in 1927 seized all the property of the Catholic Church. In the end, it was the Mexican revolutionary party, not the church, which won.

Pope John was fully aware of, and approved of, the pastoral letter read in all Cuban churches the other day warning Castro of the danger of Communism.

A sudden and mysterious outbreak of cancer among Rocky Mountain rainbow trout is forcing health officials to destroy all rainbow trout in Idaho and Montana government and private hatcheries. It may be necessary to destroy hatchery trout in California, Washington, Oregon, Utah, Nevada, Colorado, Wyoming and New Mexico.

The presence of cancer in rainbow trout was first noticed in a shipment from Wendell, Idaho, to private California fishing clubs last spring. When the trout came to the California border they were inspected, found to be in poor condition, but admitted to the state.

A month later 65 per cent of another trout shipment from the same trout farmer in Wendell, Idaho, was found dead when it arrived at the California border. A diagnosis showed the trout had cancer of the liver.

The Fish and Wildlife Service, the Bureau of Fisheries and the National Cancer Institute were called in for hurried huddles. They decided the cancer probably came from a certain brand of fish food manufactured in Buhl, Idaho.

Dr. Hueper has warned his superiors that the sudden cancer epidemic in trout illustrates how insect sprays, the dumping of industrial waste in rivers, food additives and radio-active fallout can cause cancer.

At present 25 countries are dumping radio-active waste, most of it into the sea. The question of what effect this will have on the fish supply of the world is an extremely important one which Sen. Warren Magnuson wants studied through a new Oceanic Space Agency. So far Congressman Overton Brooks of Arkansas is blocking this. (Copyright 1960, By The Bell Syndicate)

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

It happened three years ago today, but it is real. Very . . .

The four men were big and they came in wearing beach trunks. Jenny Bishop was sitting in the yellow leather chair in the dining room. She was 73, a pale widow of the woman who had married my father 50 years earlier. They had been visiting me, and momma had sustained two heart attacks in a row. For hours, my father had fanned with a newspaper to get air to her.

She had always been pretty, and she knew she was pretty. She was so vain that, after the first attack, she asked a granddaughter, Virginia Lee, to trim her bronze hair in the back. She was prim and religious and, many years before, she had been strict and unyielding to the three children — Jim, John and Adele. We washed dishes and dusted around the house from the age of seven.

Jenny Bishop never understood much of what was going on in the world. She understood her man and her children. Sometimes, for no reason at all, she would take us in her arms and hold us close and rock us back and forth and kiss us behind the ear. She could also, on occasion, haul off and send a hand crashing across a cheek and, at those times, her eyes sparkled with fury.

Now she was 73 and the nose was still cute and turned up a little at the bottom. The eyes were still sky blue, but they could not see. The men of the Sea Bright First Aid did not know this, and they put her on a stretcher and took her out to the ambulance, talking tenderly as rough men sometimes talk, and they slid her into the back.

In front, Captain Dougherty of the Police Department sat in a squad car and turned his blinker on and led the way down the beach five miles to Monmouth Memorial Hospital. On the way, one of the volunteers turned the bed up and pointed out the old mansions on the dunes. My mother had to explain to him that she had recently lost her sight.

He said: "I didn't know," and he proceeded to describe the mansions, color by color, and how the sun hit the big green rollers as they crashed white on the sand. He told her that she had nothing to fear, that she was over the worst of it. Nothing bad could happen to her, he said, on such a sunny day.

My father and I got to the hospital five minutes behind the volunteers and they yelled not to worry, that she was doing fine.

She was. We got to the top floor, and Jenny Bishop was in a corner room. John M. Bishop felt bad because, many times, he had promised Jenny that he would never put her in a hospital.

He was more worried than she was. He didn't understand that he had no choice in the matter. If he had kept her in my house, and she died, he would have said hospitalization might have saved her. If she died in the hospital, he would feel that he might as well have kept her home. In this situation, he was the only one who couldn't possibly win.

However, he was always all man and he fussed around her, adjusting the sheet, feeling her forehead, asking in a growl if there was anything she needed. She said no. We left at nine p. m. A priest came and it was not discouraging for my mother to make her peace with God, because she had done it every day of her life. At 10:30 p. m. I was watching television. My father was sitting in the kitchen, reading the newspapers. He came in to the living room. "Did you hear anything?" he said. "No, I said. He shook his head. "I must be hearing things," he said. "I distinctly heard your mother calling 'John! John!'" "Sit down, I said and watch t.v. and take your mind off it."

At 10:50, the phone rang. It was the doctor. "Better get your father to the hospital," he said. "I don't think she's going to make it."

I hung up. "Get your hat," I said to my father. "We're going to the hospital." He didn't ask why. He knew. We rolled down the beach fast. I wanted to get there before she made the last graceful bow. I don't know why. We hardly talked all the way.

There was a doctor in the room and a nurse. My mother was sleeping as I had seen her sleep from childhood, the small hands clasped together on top of the coverlet. My father pushed the doctor aside and kissed my mother full on the lips. Then he stood away and looked down at her.

The nurse was talking to the doctor. "There was no problem with this patient," she was saying, "until 10:30. I was walking down the hall and I heard somebody calling 'John! John!' so I came in. I called the resident at once, but it was too late."

Momma was never afraid of the dark.

A Stiff Test For Vaccine Against Measles

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

This is not the season for measles but the results of an epidemic in a Staten Island school are worth repeating. A new vaccine was given to 23 children and none developed the disease, even though it was occurring at an explosive rate among their close friends. Eight unvaccinated youngsters died in the epidemic, demonstrating its severity.

This vaccine was developed in 1954 by Dr. John F. Enders of Harvard, a Nobel prize winner. The present study was its stiffest test, according to Medical World News. Dr. Saul Krugman tested the vaccine at the Willowbrook state school, where 70 per cent of the boys and girls were found to be susceptible to measles; 46 were singled out, and of these 23 were inoculated. All 46 shared the same living quarters and ate in a common dining room.

The vaccine produced a modified form of measles in many of the vaccinated youngsters: 15 developed slight fever, and half had a rash for two or three days. None was really sick.

This phase of the study was followed by attempts to determine whether immune bodies had formed in the blood of the vaccinated youngsters. The concentrations were found to be comparable to those in the blood of children recovering from a bona fide attack of measles. None of the unvaccinated children developed measles at that time showing that the vaccine-produced measles was not contagious. Whenever a vaccine of this type is used there is a question of whether the man made, modified disease is contagious.

A month later, the epidemic struck the neighborhood and then the school. Within four weeks, half the children in the school developed measles. Gradually the epidemic crept into the quarters where the tests were being made

Pirates Get 27 Hits, Defeat Phillies, 11-2 And 4-3

Friend Posts 13th Victory Of Campaign

Bob Clemente Walks To Force Winning Run Over In 2nd

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates blended the long ball with bunts Tuesday night for a total of 27 hits and an 11-2, 4-3 two-night doubleheader victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

The front-running Pirates broke a 3-3 tie in the eighth inning by decoying the Phils with bunts. Dick Groat, Bob Skinner and Rocky Nelson bunted safely to load the bases and Roberto Clemente drew the only walk off loser Robin Roberts to force in the winning run. All this was accomplished with no outs.

Slamming out 12 hits in the nightcap, the Pirates were three short of the number they rapped in the opener to anchor Bob Friend's 13th victory.

Elroy Face, who pitched two innings in relief, won his seventh game. Starter Joe Gibbon allowed all five Philadelphia hits and their runs. Roberts was charged with his 11th defeat.

Clemente's rbi production for the evening was five runs. He singled home Skinner in the sixth inning to give the Pirates a 3-3 tie. Pittsburgh came up with a pair of runs in the third inning when Gibbon beat a high bounder to first and scored on Bill Virdon's triple. Virdon came around when Ken Walters made a wild throw on the relay.

In the opening game, Clemente and Skinner each drove in three runs and collected three hits in the 15-hit onslaught. Skinner got his 14th homer of the season in the eighth inning after Virdon walked and Groat singled. Groat, the team's leading batter, scored four runs and got three hits to go with his run scored and three safeties in the nightcap.

Friend had a four-hitter until the ninth inning when the Phils put together three singles for their second run. The Pirates spotted the Phils an unearned run in the opening inning on Taylor's single. Clemente's throwing error and Herrera's double.

But the Pirates came back in that inning with five runs, highlighted by Clemente's two-run single and Bill Mazeroski's two-run double.

Starter Jim Owens, who yielded five runs, was charged with his 11th defeat against three victories.

A trio of one-run decision battles featured play yesterday in the Rocking Chair Softball League.

The best game of the day was staged at Stitzer Field where Ritter's A.C. eked out a 1-0 verdict over Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company.

At Allegheny Field, the Knights of Columbus, still with a long shot chance of getting into the playoffs, nosed out the Loyal Order of Moose, 3-2, while the pennant winning V.F.W. tilters topped the Celanese A.A., on the latter's field, 2 to 1.

Ritter's scored the game's only run in the fourth inning when Fred Comer tripped and came home on Dave Ritter's sacrifice fly to centerfield.

Paul "Perk" Robinette, 34, third baseman of Pittsburgh Plate, suffered a broken right leg in the third inning while sliding into second base on a two-base wallop. He was taken to Memorial Hospital. The other hit credited to the Glassmen also was a double by Ed Bratt. Glenn Kauffman of the R.A.C. notched his 12th win of the season.

Donnie Farrell's home run in the second inning was the blow that gave the Caseys the decision over the Moose. It gave the Knights a 3-0 lead which the L.O.M. was unable to overcome. Russ Miller banged a triple for the Caseys while Lease had two hits. Jim Fradiska homered and Keyser blasted a triple for the Moose.

George McGregor doubled home two runs in the top of the 7th and final frame to give the Vets a come-from-behind victory over Celanese. "Pete" Elliott went the route for the V.F.W. and notched his ninth victory. Ted Durbin collected a double and single for the winners while Nelson had a two-base hit for the Silks.

A meeting of the Rocking Chair League will be held Thursday at 8:15 p.m., at the Wilson Hardware Company building to make plans for the playoffs and to set a date for the annual dinner.

Chiti's Wild Throw Decides Game In 8th

CHICAGO (UPI)—Catcher Harry Chiti's wild throw attempting to catch Jim Landis at third in the eighth inning Tuesday night permitted two unearned runs for the Chicago White Sox for a 3-2 victory over the Detroit Tigers to retain second place in the American League race.

The defeat broke a three-game winning streak for the Tigers and gave the White Sox their ninth win in the last 12 games. The victory went to Frank Baumann, his eighth as he scattered seven Detroit hits.

Landis opened the Sox eighth with a single to deep short and reached second when Nellie Fox beat out a bunt in front of the plate. They worked the double steal as Roy Sievers struck out for the second out and both came home when Chiti's throw was wide of third base and rolled deep into left field out territory.

Jim Bunning, who took his ninth loss, went the route for Detroit, giving up seven hits also, including Al Smith's 11th homer for the first Chicago run.

Detroit's Al Kaline was instrumental in both Tiger runs, doubling in the first to score Chico Fernandez who had singled. He opened the ninth with a double, went to third without drawing a play, and scored on Norm Cash's infield out.

Tigers, Braves Cop Dapper Dan Playoff Games

Phillies And Cards Suffer 4-3 Defeats

The Tigers defeated the Phillies at Penn Avenue and the Braves edged the Cardinals at Constitution Park yesterday in a pair of 4-3 games and evened up the semi-final playoffs in the Dapper Dan Little League at one victory for each team.

Bobby Powell's walk and Gary Neus' double accounted for the run in the top of the 6th that gave Manager Val DeArcangelis' Tigers the decision over the Phillies. The Phils outthit the Tigers 10 to 6.

Gary Neus paced the Tigers at the plate with a double and single and Joe Wilson had a two-bagger to his credit. Terry Deremer rapped a pair of doubles and Danny Keyes collected a two-bagger and single for the Phils. Larry Mooney was the victor and Steve Walters was tagged with the loss.

Pull Two Double Plays
Timmy Scaletta and Rich Aman excelled on the Tigers' infield and figured in two double plays. Terry Deremer starred at short for the losers.

The deciding game of the Tigers-Phillies series is set for 6 p.m., Thursday at Penn Avenue Field.

Perky Yates' single up the middle scoring Dave Bruce in the bottom of the 7th gave the Braves an extra inning victory over the Cardinals who had won the series opener by the score of 5-1.

Dave Bruce opened the winning rally by hitting safely. Jerry Moore walked and Steve Madden beat out a bunt to fill the bases before Yates' came through in the clutch.

Yates' Catch Is Gem
Yates also contributed the fielding gem by spearing a line drive in deep left field in the third inning.

Dave Bruce of the Braves and Dick Chaney and Nick Perlozzo of the Cardinals each had a double and single to their credit.

The win went to Herbie Springer who came on in the 7th. Nick Perlozzo, who also took over in the 7th, was the loser.

Optimists Win First

Top B'nai B'rith In 9th Frame, 1-0

Eddie Martin's single with the bases loaded in the bottom of the ninth inning scored the game's lone tally as the pennant winning Cumberland Optimist Club won the Hot Stove Baseball League playoff series opener from B'nai B'rith last night at Penn Avenue Field by the score of 1-0.

The game was scheduled for seven innings but the scoreless mound duel waged by Vince DeLaGrange and Lewis of B'nai B'rith and Bill Rawnsley of the Optimists went two extra innings before Manager Lou Marrale's tossers copped the verdict.

Bill Lueck opened the ninth with a single and after DeLaGrange walked Toby Scaletta and Howard Reynolds, Lewis came on to face Martin, who singled through second base to drive over the winning tally.

A total of 22 batsmen went down on strikes during the game. Bill Rawnsley limited B'nai B'rith to three safeties and whiffed eleven batters. DeLaGrange and Lewis fanned a total of 11 and gave up only five hits. The loss went to DeLaGrange.

The second game of the series is scheduled for 7:30 p.m., today at Penn Avenue Field. Score:

Smith, who has won all of the games for the leaders of the league's American Division, struck out eight and aided his cause by larruping a pair of two-baggers and a single.

In National Division action at Post Field, the Baldies defeated Post by the score of 6-1 on a two-hitter by Bob Young.

Gene Rice and Bill Fair shared six of the Baldies 12 hits while Mike Firrie obtained a two-bagger and single.

Indians Edge Kansas City In Tenth, 4-3

Single By Francona Wins For Newcomer

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Tito Francona's broken-bat single drove in Johnny Temple from third base Tuesday night and gave the Cleveland Indians a 4-3 victory over the Kansas City Athletics in 10 innings.

The Indians had filled the bases two singles and an intentional pass before Francona's hit.

Dick Williams hit his eighth home run of the season in the top of the ninth to tie the score at 3-3. Francona had put the Tribe in front in the second inning when he hit his ninth home run of the season with Jimmy Piersall on base.

The Athletics tied it up in the sixth on Bill Tuttle's single, Jerry Lumpe's double, a sacrifice fly by Hank Bauer which scored Tuttle and Dick Williams' single which scored Lumpe.

In the seventh inning Mike De La Hoz, Tribe shortstop, singled, moved around to third on a sacrifice and single then scored on Ken Aspromonte's infield out.

Jack Harshman started for the Indians but left in the seventh inning with the score tied. He was relieved by Barry Latman for one inning and Don Newcombe finished the last three innings, getting credit for the victory.

Keeping Up With Hollywood by Lovella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — I don't think I am telling a secret when I say that the departure of Stewart Granger from Hollywood is final. The Arizona ranch is for sale, and he will do a number of pictures, all to be made in Europe. After he makes two for MGM, plus "Sodom and Gomorrah" for Joe Levine, he will star in Giuseppe de Lampedusa's "The Leopard," which is currently top of the best seller list. At that time he will establish permanent Swiss residence. Just as "Sodom and Gomorrah" is being made for Titianus productions, so will "The Leopard" come under their banner. Those talented writers, Jerry Lawrence and Robert Lee took off for the east a few days ago. Before they left, Jerry told me he was in Buenos Aires the day that Eva Peron (wife of the deposed dictator Juan Peron) died. "This gave me the idea to write 'The Diamond Orchid,' the story of Eva's life, for the stage," said Jerry. "She was loved by all the poor and despite the scandals, she in her own way did a lot of good." Jerry and Bob go to Cleveland for the premiere of "Inherit the Wind" — they wrote the Broadway play. While they are in Ohio they'll visit Baldwin Wallace College in Berea, Ohio, where they will be honored in a hometown-boys-make-good gala.

Walter Slezak is giving up the last three weeks of his time on the Dinah Shore summer replacement show. In telling me about it, Walter, who telephoned bright and early, said, "I have to be in Portofino on Sept. 4 for 'Come September.' I've just signed with Universal International, and Dinah's company very kindly let me off from my last three weeks or else I couldn't have made it, and it really means so much to me because it's such a good role. So I'll join Gina Lollobrigida, Rock Hudson, Sandra Dee and Bobby Darin. I think it's a superb cast."

Lunched with Dolores Del Rio at the Beverly Hills Hotel and she told me about the surprise party Susan Kohner gave George Hamilton on his 21st birthday. "I'm Susan's godmother," she said. "So I was the only grownup invited. It was a complete surprise to George because it turned out to be a black tie party for 120 young guests instead of a dinner for four. George's cake was done in the shape of an Alfa Romeo car which he had bought himself for his birthday. He's still keeping his Rolls Royce, he says — for marketing!"

Dolores, by the way, and her husband, Lewis Riley, have bought the rights to "The Little Foxes," the play which starred Tallulah Bankhead on the stage and Bette Davis in the movie. "My husband will produce and direct it, but first I have to make two pictures for a Mexican company," she told me.

The parents of 19-year-old Patrick Farrow, actress Maureen O'Sullivan and producer-director John Farrow, didn't know that Patrick had an acting job until he told them. He did it all himself, and you'll see him in "The Glass Cage" on TV Aug. 29 with Loretta Young. She is his godmother and it was her sister Mrs. Norman Foster (Sally Blane) who told her that young Pat has talent. So Loretta sent him for an audition and he liked what she saw.

"I'm not going to be a stage mother," Maureen told me, "but I can't wait to see him when Loretta's show is released on the 29th."

I can't wait, either, for Pat is a good friend of mine. All of us in Hollywood who knew and loved Paul Cunningham, former president of ASCAP, were shocked to hear of his sudden death early Sunday morning.

I talked to Flossie, his devoted wife of 40 years, and she told me he just went to sleep quietly. Paul had been active up to the time of his death and he was out here during the Democratic convention, busy as ever, working for ASCAP. It was he who was the leader in fighting the juke box bill, and he had done wonderful work. Paul was a great American man of ideals, and he'll be sorely missed.

NOTICE Pursuant to the provisions of Section 127 of the Charter of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, (1950 Edition), notice is hereby given that the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland did, in regular session Monday, August 8, 1960, approve the Repealing of Ordinance No. 16, which closed a sixteen (16) foot unshared alley, being parallel to and South of Sanford Street in the City of Cumberland, and adjacent to portions of Lots 161, 162, 208 and 209 as shown on the Plat of Mapleside Addition, and running in a Westerly direction from its intersection with Massachusetts Avenue a distance of approximately 216 feet to its intersection with Utah Avenue.

It is the feeling of the Commissioners that all costs incurred by the City of Cumberland in connection with the closing of said alley should be borne by the property owners requesting said closing.

Any person, persons, firm or corporation feeling aggrieved by the action of the Commissioners may appeal therefrom within thirty (30) days after August 8, 1960, and filing written notice of such appeal with the City Clerk of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, who will transmit same to the Circuit Court for Allegany County to be docketed for jury trial.

Wins Over Paret In Non-Title Go

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Baby-faced Denny Meyer of Portland, Ore., beat welterweight champion Benny (Kid) Paret of Cuba at close quarters Wednesday night for a stunning, upset non-title decision in their 10-round fight at Madison Square Garden.

It was a split decision, aided by a fourth-round penalty on a foul against Paret for two low blows.

Paret went into the ring favored at 3 1/2 to 1, but the defeat snapped his unbeaten string at seven straight.

Cuban Benny's 147-pound title was not at stake against the gold-haired 21-year-old contender from the Northwest because each scaled over the welter limit.

Meyer, making his last fight as a welterweight, registered 152 1/2 pounds; Paret, 151.

Local 26 To Act On Wage Offer

Meeting Is Scheduled Today At 1 P.M. In Eagles Home Here

Local 26, Rubber Workers Union, AFL-CIO, will hold a special membership meeting today at 1 p. m. in the Eagles Home, according to Alva C. Lewis, president.

He said the meeting was called to let the members of the union "accept or reject" a company proposal.

The announcement was made last night at 11:30 o'clock after company and union negotiators completed an all-day session in the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Mr. Lewis said no details of the company proposal will be announced until members have had an opportunity to vote on it.

Members of the union walked out of the local tire plant Friday at midnight as a result of a dispute over a wage increase being negotiated under a reopening clause in the contract.

The strike was the first to be authorized by the Kelly local in about 15 years.

Negotiations have continued daily since the strike began.

The 1,800-member union met Sunday and voted to continue the strike and to continue negotiations toward a settlement.

Yesterday's negotiating settlement began at 9:30 a. m. and continued until 11:30 p. m. with only short breaks for lunch and dinner.

The strike is still on.

Avon's Moving Paw Paw Plant Is Explained

Management's decision for larger plant units was cited yesterday as a reason for moving the Paw Paw, W. Va. operations of Avon Products to Newark, Del. within the next year and a half, a company spokesman said.

Ralph Madden, general manager of the Mid-Atlantic Division of the cosmetics company, said in a telephone conversation from Newark that about three years ago the small operating unit was started in Paw Paw.

In the meantime the operation was analyzed by the company's management and it was decided that the Paw Paw operations be incorporated in a larger building now under construction at Newark.

Earlier this month Mr. Madden visited the Paw Paw plant and talked with the 42 employees informing them they would be given an opportunity to move to Newark and remain as employees of the firm.

He said yesterday "that the employees have done a wonderful job" and the company is "proud and pleased" with their work during the past three years.

Mr. Madden indicated that a number of the employees apparently will move to Delaware and continue working with the firm.

The Paw Paw plant, opened in June 1957, was an auxiliary shipping unit of the company and the employees assembled, checked and shipped the products to points in Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Virginia, he said.

William Golliday is the plant manager at Paw Paw and the employees are from that area.

Jail Trusty Visits Board At Court House

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday had an unexpected visitor in John R. Zimmerla, a trusty from the County Jail.

Zimmerla has been confined in the County Jail since May 5 because he requested a jury trial in Circuit Court when he was brought into Trial Magistrates Court on an assault charge. He has been unable to raise the $500 bond in order to get his freedom. The next jury term of court is in October.

The prisoner thought the county commissioners might do something to help him gain his freedom. They explained they had no jurisdiction in the matter. The end result was a call to Sheriff Paul C. Haberlein, who came to the Court House to escort the trusty back to jail.

Tax Collectors Now Making Final Visits

Deputies in the office of Allegany County Tax Collector William B. Orndorff will make their final visits this week to seven communities which already have been visited a total of 35 times in June and July for the collection of state and county real estate taxes.

Monday $590.63 was collected at Barton and Midland and $4,495 at the tax office here.

Yesterday about $7,100 in county taxes was collected. Mr. Orndorff said $3,200 was received at the Court House, $2,900 at the Frostburg Fire Hall and $1,000 at the Lonaconing Fire Hall.

The collectors are not expecting a big yield from these final trips for the simple reason that more county taxes already have been collected in during three months last year. The June-July haul this year adds up to $3,225,213.22 or $39,488.91 more than was collected in June, July and August last year.

A three per cent discount is allowed on county taxes paid during August. In September, it jumps to one-half per cent interest.

Following is the schedule of visitations for the rest of the week:

Today Mt. Savage VFW Home, 9:30 a. m. until noon; Flintstone Fire Hall, 1:30 until 3:30 p. m.; Thursday, Westernport Town Hall, 10 a. m. until 3:30 p. m.

4-H Dairy Calf Club Features Fair Activity

Water Frolics Makes Appearance

The Allegany County 4-H Dairy Calf Club, with about 60 head of stock on the grounds, will take over today at the 43d annual Cumberland Fair.

Robert Schabinger, extension dairyman at the University of Maryland, will judge classes of Holsteins, Guernseys, Jerseys and Ayrshires starting at 9 o'clock this morning, according to Assistant County Agent James B. Arnold.

After the judging is over there will be the usual fitting and showing contests to determine which boys and girls can best handle their dairy cattle.

The major livestock judging as well as judging in virtually all other categories was completed yesterday.

Former County Agent Ralph F. McHenry, who retired from the job in 1954 but still takes an active interest in events at Fairgo, recorded the winners in the different breeds of beef and dairy cattle. In each case, both the grand champion bull and female came from the same owner.

Among the dairy cattle, both the grand champion Guernsey bull and female were shown by Ralph A. McCauley of Hagerstown. In the Holstein breed, A Doty Rensburg of Jefferson, in Frederick County, had both the grand champion bull and female.

Three others, who will get $1.50 each in premium money, are JoAnn Barger, RFD 4; Charles Alkire, Potomac Park; and Betty Joe Hamons, Flintstone. # Strike Closes Poultry Plant At Oakland

Stoppage Follows Contract Dispute

A contract dispute closed down the Sterling Processing Corporation's poultry processing plant in Oakland yesterday.

The strike was called by the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen and the Teamsters union.

Frank O'Malley, industrial relations director for the firm, said the strike followed termination by the unions Monday at midnight of an extension of the contract.

He said drivers represented by Cumberland Local 453, Teamsters Union, delivered all poultry which was processed Monday.

Picket Plant

Local 453 and Meat Cutters Local 424 set up picket lines at the plant yesterday at noon following a meeting during which unions rejected the company's contract offer.

Mr. O'Malley said the company's offer included one cent per hour effective July 1, 1960; three cents effective September 1, 1961, and two cents effective July 1, 1962.

A $2.50 annual allowance for aprons, gloves and hair nets, two days' pay for absence for death in the immediate family, modification of shift differentials, and other benefits were also included in the contract which would expire December 31, 1962, he said.

Under the company's offer, the base rate would be $1.19 retroactive to July 1, 1960; $1.22 on September 1, 1961, and $1.24 on July 1, 1962, Mr. O'Malley said.

Union negotiators had proposed, subject to membership action, that the 2½-year contract include a six-cent wage package, with three cents retroactive to July 1 and the other three cents next July, according to Joseph Freno, business agent of Local 453, Teamsters Union here.

No Meetings Set

No further meetings between the company and unions are scheduled.

Mr. Freno reported the unions told the company they are willing to sit down and negotiate an agreement but that no meetings are scheduled.

The Meat Cutters local, with headquarters in Pittsburgh, represents about 110 workers and the Cumberland Teamsters union has about 15 drivers at the plant.

The plant was located in Oakland slightly more than three years ago, and is part of Sterling Enterprises.

The strike comes at the expiration of the first contract between the company and the unions.

Local VFW To Sell Coins To Help Restore Frigate

Henry Hart Post 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars is taking part in a state-wide campaign to raise funds for the restoration of the frigate "Constellation" which is now anchored in Baltimore.

The Maryland Department of the VFW expects to raise in excess of $100,000 through the sale of "Constellation coins" by members of the veterans' group and its auxiliary.

The coins are made from copper spikes taken from the frigate and one will be given for each dollar contributed. The coin also will serve as a permanent pass to board the ship free of charge.

James H. Darling, quartermaster for the local post, said he has 100 of the coins here now and more are available. Mr. Darling said anyone interested in obtaining one of the coins may contact the post home at 205 Union Street or any member of the VFW.

The Constellation, which was decommissioned by the Navy in 1955, came to Baltimore that summer. Since that time numerous attempts have been made to raise funds for her restoration. The work of the VFW in raising money throughout the state is expected to complete the current phase of work urgently needed to keep the ship afloat.

At the present time, the port side of the old fighting ship has been completely replanked. Remaining work on the ship includes the re-rigging of the ship and the re-planking of the starboard side. Older by several months than the more famous USS Constitution, the Constellation was built and launched in Baltimore in 1797. She had served in every war in which the United States has participated, including World War II when she was flagship of the Atlantic Fleet. She was decommissioned in 1955, several years after the Korean armistice.

Cumberland Economic Study Is Being Made

The Maryland Department of Economic Development yesterday began a community survey of the Cumberland area.

The study, which will be published by the department this fall, is the first of its kind sponsored by the recently formed department, and will be a pilot operation for similar surveys of all sections of Maryland.

The survey, Mr. Belch said, will include all available information on the Cumberland area's transportation, utilities, population, labor force and wage structure, existing industries and available industrial sites and buildings.

Chapters will be included on the area's communications, mineral resources, tax structure, climate, governmental structure and services and its community resources such as health, housing and educational facilities.

The purpose of the study is to gather, digest and publish all of the basic information which is wanted by industrial prospects.

Two youths arrested early yesterday morning near the South Midway Restaurant are being held in the Bedford County (Pa.) jail pending further investigation of the ransacking of a number of tractor-trailer rigs on the restaurant parking lot.

Meanwhile several persons have been questioned in the attempted armed robbery of the office of the Standard Oil Company in the vicinity of the restaurant Monday night.

Police said two men, armed with automatic pistols, walked into the office and demanded the attendant give them the combination of the safe.

The men tied up the attendant with his necktie and ransacked the quarters. However no money was obtained, police said. Officers reported both men are in their 30s, of slender build, were wearing light colored shirts and were well groomed.

Robert Tune Jr., 18, of Connecticut, and a 16-year-old companion of New Columbia, Pa. were arrested by police about 6 a. m. yesterday after they were chased from the parking lot by an unidentified man.

A 29-year-old Mt. Savage man was killed last night when an automobile on which he was working drifted in the backyard of his home and ran over him.

George L. Butler, son of Mrs. Elsie M. Butler, was apparently killed instantly and was taken to Miners Hospital by volunteer firemen of the community who were called about 9 p. m.

Meanwhile the car ran over the victim. Volunteer firemen said that they were called to the scene and when they arrived the car was along a bank in the back yard.

They said about four of the volunteers lifted the car off the man's body and another volunteer pulled him from beneath the car.

School Board Gives Approval To Low Bids

Approval was granted to the acceptance of two low bids at yesterday's meeting of the Allegany County Board of Education.

In one of the closest bids received in years, Orrie R. Sensabaugh was awarded the contract to provide and install outdoor bleacher seats for about 400 spectators at Mt. Savage School. His bid was $4,498, just $2 less than the $4,500 price submitted by Flowers School Equipment Company of Richmond, Va. Funds for these bleachers were included in a 1957 bond issue for school projects authorized by the General Assembly in Annapolis.

Nationwide Insurance Companies, 63 Baltimore Street, again were awarded the contract to insure buses and automobiles used to transport children to school. Their low bid was $3,836.30. The only other bid, $4,815.75, was offered by Federal Mutual Insurance Company.

Raymond R. Pomeroy, 1201 Michigan Avenue, biology and general science teacher at Beall High School in Frostburg, was granted a year's leave of absence so that he can accept a National Defense Education Act fellowship for a year's study at Pennsylvania State University.

The school board also gave its sanction to the already completed sale of part of the land and the Oster property house near the Flintstone School. This portion was not needed in the plans for expansion of the school's athletic field.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster reminded the school board members of two forthcoming state conferences which they probably will want to attend. The first is the Maryland School Board Association Conference to be held in Hagerstown October 5, 6 and 7. All board members are expected to attend.
